Request and discussion

An accommodation request can be made orally and informally. Discuss effective ways to work or, where appropriate, a finite period of leave, an estimated return or extension. A preset limit or missed paperwork does not establish a voluntary resignation. If return timing is uncertain, seek the information needed for an individualized assessment. Undue hardship and reassignment to a vacant position, where applicable, require separate consideration. A position elimination is an employer action. This record does not document an employee resignation.

Confidentiality and return

Medical documentation belongs in a separate confidential file. Supervisors and managers may receive necessary restrictions and accommodations. Other disclosures must fall within a specific legal exception, such as information needed by safety or first-aid personnel for emergency treatment or by officials investigating compliance. Do not circulate the supporting medical file with this record. Any return-to-work medical inquiry or examination must independently be job-related, consistent with business necessity and limited to the relevant objective evidence.
